“I have really enjoyed the Insight Programme and have learnt so much. I did not expect it to impact my career aspirations this much, as coming into the programme I had very limited knowledge of the industry. It has definitely motivated me to seek further experience in surveying, to help increase the chances that I will be accepted onto an internship or placement”

Luke Wood, BSc (Hons) Management, University of Manchester

“I think I can happily and proudly say I understand what surveying is across a range of sectors. I have enjoyed every project, meeting new people and all the sessions this programme had to offer, which was a fantastic learning opportunity. I have definitely already applied the skills I have learnt to interviews I have had and will continue to use what I have learnt from this programme in the future”

Amelia Ridgewell, BSc (Hons) Environmental Geography, University of York
